ALBUKHARY INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY

Albukhary International University (AIU) is a private, non-profit education institution with a fully residential campus and state-of-the-art facilities. It provides a conducive living and learning environment for students to indulge in self-discovery, nurturing relationships, and building understanding on global issues. At AIU, students are exposed to a holistic educational approach through a combined academic and social engagement programme which is carried out throughout the study period. The aim is to realize the University's objective to develop and mould the students into holistic individuals who will serve and contribute back to their own communities.

AIU envisions to be the referral centre for Social Business, its niche area. AIU also actively advocates for and participates in the Three Zero Clubs: Zero Poverty, Zero Unemployment and Zero Carbon Emission, as initiated by Nobel Laureate and Chancellor of the University, Professor Muhammad Yunus.

Constructed on a 45-acre (18 hectares) site, with architectural designs reminiscent of classic architectural wonders dating from the golden age of learning such as the Dome of the Rock (Jerusalem), Citadel of Bukhara (Uzbekistan), University of al-Qarawiyyin (Morocco) and Süleymaniye Mosque (Türkiye), the campus is located in the peaceful city of Alor Setar, capital of the northern state of Kedah.

The beauty of AIU transcends its rich and beautiful architecture and lies in its heart of the 5A core values: Aqidah, Akhlaq, Adab, Amanah and Amalan; their definition and practise carried out and passed on amongst the students of diverse ethnicity from more than 60 countries worldwide. Through its vision, mission and core values, AIU is committed to ensuring the highest level of human dignity in line with the concept of "Inspiring Minds"; core ethos and tagline of the University.

UNIVERSITY LOGO

In the University's logo, the square Kufic reads "Jami'ah Albukhary al-Duwaliyyah" (Albukhary International University). The square Kufic (known as Kufi Murabba' or Kufi Banna'I – masonry script) is characterised by its unique epigraphic convention; by its angularity, squareness, and strict organising principles by positive and negative space.

ALBUKHARY INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY

"Jami'ah (University)" in blue: produces a calming effect, associated with tranquility and calmness; beneficial to mind and body.

"Albukhary" in green: the colour of life, nature and energy; to create balance as well as promote change and growth.

"al-Duwaliyyah" (International) in turquoise: represents healing properties that affect the mind and body; believed to boost energy, serenity, wholeness and creativity.

The typography for ALBUKHARY INTERNATIONAL UNIVERSITY in black: associated with power, authority and prestige.

The square Kufic, also used in the logo of the Islamic Arts Museum Malaysia was selected as the new logo of the University because the aforementioned institutions are the symbolic entities founded and supported by the Albukhary Foundation. The Islamic Arts Museum Malaysia seeks to nurture a deeper appreciation for the influence of Islamic civilization throughout the globe, while the Albukhary International University was founded with the aim of inclusion in the field of higher education.

In totality, the colours of the new Albukhary International University logo captures the essence of the university's motto, which is "Inspiring minds towards a better world".

SOCIAL BUSINESS @ AIU

In line with the University's niche area of Social Business, where the focuses are on practical and community-related research rather than theoretical and hypothetical research, a variety of impactful events, projects and collaborations are organised and participated year round by staff and students of AIU.

These include:

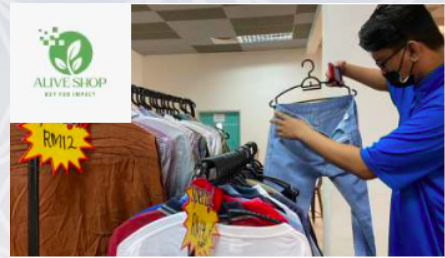

- Social Business Day 2023 - co-organised by Yunus Centre and AIU at Langkawi;
- AIU Centre of Excellence in Socio-Economic Development and Innovation
- (ACE-SEDI) collaboration with AIU-Yunus Social Business Centre (YSBC) to undertake applied research programmes designed to transform communities at the bottom of the wealth pyramid;
- Albukhary Social Business Journal (ASBJ), published online biannually covering business & social sciences while keeping the social business as its focus;
- AIU Public Lecture Series, a platform for prominent speakers to share experience, knowledge, and expertise in the realm of social business.

THREE ZEROES @ AIU

The AIU-Social Business Design Lab is a brainstorming platform for students to cultivate their creative minds to find social solution and social innovation ideas. We believe, in order for social solution and social innovation ideas to be invented, the students need to be actively engaged in community projects and programmes. By doing this, they will have a better understanding on the root issues involved, the challenges, strategies to overcome and propose potential solutions.

Therapy Lab - Production of Scented Candles from Used Cooking Oil

AIU Alive Shop - Recycling Second-hand Clothes

Plastigo - Production of Useable Products from Recyclable Plastics

Po-Stitch - Upcycling Old Clothes and Fabrics into Cloth Products

Our community engagement programmes are in Baling and Sik, Kedah. The potential social solution or innovation would be a new method, business model, tool and equipment, software or an app that will improve the quality of life of people living in poverty. These solutions will then be turned into social business ideas. This lab is divided into 3 clusters aiming to work towards a World of Three Zeroes as called upon by Professor Muhammad Yunus: (1) Zero Poverty, (2) Zero Unemployment and (3) Zero Net Carbon Emission.

SCHOOLS and CENTRES

The three Schools at AIU offer a number of dynamic academic programmes, while the two academic Centres provide foundational and academic support needed to prepare students for the undergraduate programmes.

Message from the Founder

Ladies and gentlemen, esteemed graduates, parents, faculty, and distinguished guests.

Today, we gather once again to celebrate a remarkable milestone at the third convocation of Albukhary International University. It is a day of pride and accomplishment, not only for you, the graduates, but for your families and all those who have supported you on this extraordinary path of learning and self-discovery.

In my message to the second graduating class of AIU, I emphasised the importance of continuous learning, both about yourselves and the world around you. This message is still very important, and is an integral part of why this university was born. Education is a lifelong undertaking, and graduation is just the beginning of a journey that will lead you through a continuous process of growth and discovery.

You stand on the precipice of a new chapter in your lives; one that is bound to be filled with challenges, opportunities and the unknown. As you embark on this journey, I want to reiterate the significance of education as a lifelong commitment. Our world is ever-evolving, and so is knowledge. Just as you have embraced the values of Aqidah, Akhlaq, Adab, Amanah and Amalan, it is essential to understand that your education doesn't end with a diploma — it's a lifelong endeavour. These values have become the foundation upon which you built your academic achievements. They are the guiding principles that will help you navigate the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead. Continue to learn, grow and adapt, for it is through continuous learning that you will contribute to the betterment of society.

Aqidah, your belief system, serves as your moral compass; your unwavering commitment to your values and principles that will guide your decisions in the face of ethical dilemmas. Embrace your beliefs and let them be the guiding light in your personal and professional life.

Akhlaq, the development of good character, is at the heart of what we stand for. It's not just about what you achieve, but how you achieve it. Demonstrating respect, kindness, and empathy in your interactions with others is what will truly set you apart.

Adab, or the art of etiquette and manners, will distinguish you in a world where respect for others is increasingly valued. Treat every individual with courtesy and respect, and you'll find that the world responds in kind.

Amanah, the concept of trustworthiness and responsibility, is the cornerstone of your actions. Every promise you make and every task you undertake should reflect your commitment to trustworthiness. Your word should be your bond.

Amalan, or practice, is the embodiment of your beliefs and values. Putting your knowledge and principles into practice is what truly matters. As you move forward, don't just preach your values; live them.

I am proud that you have also embraced the 8-Hour Rule, dedicating one-third of your day to education, one-third to rest, and one-third to serving those in need. This rule is not just a guideline, it is a mindset and a commitment to making a positive impact on the world. It is also a profound philosophy that encourages balance and meaningful action. Your education is not just a means to personal success, it's a tool that empowers you to contribute positively to society. Dedicate time to learning, to rest and rejuvenation, and to service. This balance will not only enrich your life but also enable you to be a force for good in the world. As you step out into the world, remember that your education and values, and this rule will guide your intentions and actions.

This university was founded on the belief that education is a fundamental right and should be accessible to all, regardless of socio-economic status. The Albukhary Foundation and AIU have been working tirelessly to make this belief a reality by providing access to education without the burden of loans or bonds.

As you step out from the halls of this university and into the world that awaits you, I want to remind you of the significance of the education you've received here. It is not just a privilege; it's a responsibility.

Your education is a gift that comes with an obligation to use it wisely. It is a tool that you can wield to create a better future not only for yourselves but for your families, communities and the world at large.

My hope for you, the third graduating class of AIU, is that you will take what you have gained here and share it with others. Just as my mother, Sharifah Rokiah, taught me that true ownership comes from giving and making someone's life easier, I urge each of you to be an agent of change and service to your communities and the world at large.

Your education is a unique opportunity to make a positive impact. It's a chance to empower others, to uplift those who may not have had the same opportunities, and to contribute to the betterment of society. Your knowledge is a powerful force for change, and it is through sharing and giving that its true potential is realised.

The philosophy of giving is embedded in the very essence of this university. The belief that "nothing is truly yours until you have given it away in hope of making someone's life easier" is a guiding principle that has the power to transform lives and communities. As you move forward, remember the impact of your actions and decisions. Each act of kindness, each offering of knowledge, and each helping hand has the potential to create a ripple effect of positive change.

As you venture into the future, remember that your education is a gift, a tool and a responsibility. Use it to create a better future for yourselves, your families, and the global community. Embrace the values you have internalised here, and let them guide you toward a world of positive change, innovation and the pursuit of zero poverty, zero unemployment, and zero net-carbon emissions.

The challenges we face as a global society are significant, from poverty and inequality to environmental crises. Your education equips you to be part of the solution. It empowers you to innovate, to lead and to advocate for a better world. The values you carry with you are your compass, ensuring that your actions are not just impactful but also ethical and compassionate.

Graduates, go forth, be the bearers of knowledge, the champions of values, and the agents of positive change. Share your gifts with the world, for it is through your actions that the spirit and mission of Albukhary International University will thrive and continue to make a difference in the lives of many.

The world needs individuals who are committed to making it a better place. It needs leaders who are guided by principles of integrity and service. You have the potential to be those leaders. Your education, values and the spirit of giving have prepared you for this role.

The challenges you may encounter should not deter you but rather inspire you to be resilient and resourceful in finding solutions. Remember that the path to meaningful change is often marked by obstacles, but it's in overcoming these challenges that you truly make a difference.

Dear graduates, your journey has just begun, and I have no doubt that you will shape a brighter, more compassionate future for all. As you step into this world, take with you the knowledge, values and commitment to service that have been instilled in you during your time at Albukhary International University. Your path is illuminated by the light of knowledge and guided by the values that will make the world a better place. Embrace this journey with open hearts and open minds, for you are the agents of change our world so desperately needs.

In closing, I encourage you to be lifelong learners, compassionate leaders and dedicated servants of humanity. Your education is not an end but a beginning. The journey you embark upon today is not just your own; it's a journey of collective progress and shared prosperity.

Thank you, and may your future be filled with boundless opportunities and transformative contributions to our global community.

Syed Mokhtar Albukhary

Message from the Chancellor

Assalamu 'Alaykum Warahmatullahi Wabarakatuhu; Distinguished members of the AIU community, graduates, students, VIPs, dignitaries, academic and administrative staff of the University, ladies and gentlemen,

It is an honour and privilege to be with you today as the Chancellor of Al-Bukhary International University (AIU). I am delighted to be here, on this momentous day in the University's calendar.

I feel very inspired to stand in front of you, the young graduates of the university. I get a strong vibes of a new future. Youth in any generation represents the future. But for you, it is very special. Because you are different from any generation of young people of the past. You are the most powerful generation of young people in the entire human history! Not because you are smarter than any other generation, but only because you are in possession of the most powerful technology in history. And your generation will have to decide whether technology will continue to be our tool to make all impossibles possible, or we let technology become our master, the way Artificial Intelligence is threatening us to be.

You have the power to make things happen in a way no other generation could dare to do. You have no option but to use that power, because your generation arrives at a time when a self-destructive economic order is bringing the whole human race towards its end. A civilization built on the current economic order can no longer sustain a human society on moral and physical grounds. For simple survival, you are tasked with creating a new economic order, and a new civilization based on that. AIU is dedicated to creating a world of three zeros: zero net carbon emissions, zero wealth concentration, and zero unemployment.

A gigantic task indeed! But you are exactly the generation capable of undertaking this enormous task. Technology and knowledge are already at your disposal. All you need is a firm commitment to get it done in one generation. This task involves moving away from the old civilization to a newly created civilization of your own crafting. All you need is to believe in your power of creativity. Don't measure yourselves with the achievements or failures of previous generations. Always remember you are way different than any other generation. You are a generation of Super Men and Super Women with a super task.

Among the youth of your generation, you are especially lucky because you got the opportunity to study at AIU. This is a unique institution to prepare you for the task ahead of you. It is dedicated to building you to conceptualize the new civilization and infuse in you the commitment to smoothly transit the entire world population to the new civilization with joy and precision.

AIU is a social business University. It tells you upfront, as you enter, the task that you would be introduced to and trained for. AIU dedicates itself to bringing the changes in you to make sure you become capable of bringing all the changes you have designed for the entire world. AIU introduced you to the limitless power of social business in bringing an end to poverty and poor health, protecting the environment, and making safe water available to everybody.

Days spent in the campus go very fast. But when look back you are surprised to see the magic that the short stay has done to all of you. Not only did you become integrated as a family, you became a leadership team with a common goal for the whole world. When you'll look at yourself during the convocation ceremony you may think you are too small a team for a huge global ambition to reach. Always remember that it is not the size of the team which determines the size of accomplishments, it is the firmness of commitment and preparedness of the team which does the wonders. You got both. Now go out and change the world. You can do it.

Good luck. The world is waiting for your leadership.

Muhammad Yunus

Message from the Chairman of the Board of Governors

Ladies and gentlemen, honoured guests, faculty, and most importantly, our graduates.

On behalf of the Board of Governors of Albukhary International University (AIU), I extend my warmest congratulations to each and every one of you.

Your journey through this institution has been a testament to your resilience and adaptability. In a world characterised by volatility, uncertainty, complexity and ambiguity (VUCA), you have shown exceptional fortitude and the ability to navigate the turbulent waters of higher education. As you step into the future, remember that these qualities, and your unwavering determination, will serve as a compass in the ever-changing landscapes you will encounter.

AIU has always been committed to preparing students for the global stage, instilling in you the values and skills necessary to become innovative and entrepreneurial citizens of the world. As you leave this university, equipped with knowledge and a diverse cultural perspective, remember that you have the capacity to bring about change, to innovate and to create a sustainable future.

In today's world, innovation is the cornerstone of progress. It's not just about coming up with new ideas; it's about using those ideas to make the world a better place. Embrace your role as global citizens and harness your innovative spirit to address the pressing challenges of our time, from climate change to social inequality. AIU has provided you with the foundation; now is your time to build upon it.

We also live in an age where technology, particularly artificial intelligence, is reshaping our world. As you venture into your professional lives, remember the importance of ethics and accountability in the use of AI. It has the potential to revolutionise our lives in every aspect, but it must be guided by principles of fairness, transparency and responsibility. You, as AIU graduates, are the torchbearers of these principles, ensuring that technology serves humanity and elevates the quality of education for all.

AIU takes pride in its diversity, too, with students from over 50 nations representing various races and religions, coming together.

It's a testament to the strength of this institution, and it has provided you with a unique opportunity to understand the world from different perspectives. As you move forward, let this diversity be a source of strength, fostering goodwill and understanding among all people.

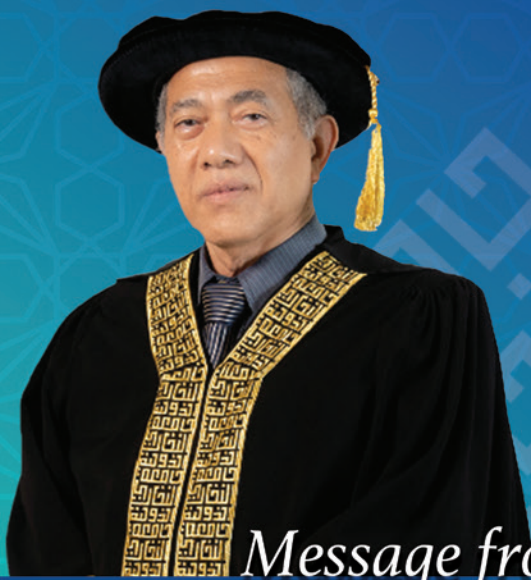

In these challenging times, we must also remember the importance of kindness and consideration. Building bridges, embracing cultural differences and working together are the foundations of a harmonious society. Malaysia has long served as a bridge between cultures, and we, as AIU graduates, are the living embodiments of this bridge.

The 5As core values of AIU—Aqidah, Akhlaq, Adab, Amanah and Amalan—have been your guiding principles. They have fostered trust, integrity and innovation. As you embark on the next chapter of your lives, carry these values with you. They will undoubtedly lead to personal development and a journey of inspiring minds and hearts.

Today, you join the distinguished ranks of AIU alumni, and you are the living proof of the power of education to transform lives. Remember that education is not just about personal achievement; it's about making a contribution to the welfare of others. As AIU alumni, you are now emissaries of hope for a future where helping others is the key to success and stability. We eagerly anticipate your contributions to the world and look forward to seeing you return to the AIU campus to inspire the next generation of alumni.

You have the knowledge, the resilience, the innovation and the ethical compass to shape a future that is brighter, more inclusive and sustainable. Embrace your role as global citizens, and let your actions be a testament to the values of AIU. Thank you.

Syed Mohamad Albukhary

Message from the Vice-Chancellor and President

Today, we gather to celebrate a momentous occasion, the culmination of the tireless efforts and unwavering determination of our third cohort of graduates and foundation studies students. On behalf of the entire AIU fraternity, I extend my heartfelt congratulations to each and every one of you for reaching this significant milestone.

This convocation marks not just an endpoint but, more importantly, the commencement of your journey into the ever-evolving and expanding world. At AIU, our mission is rooted in the philosophy of bridging gaps and inspiring minds, and we strive to create opportunities that prepare students for the challenges and opportunities of a changing world. We do so by honoring the rich tapestry of our individual differences and celebrating our collective achievements, guided by the principles of the 5A core values: Aqidah, Akhlaq, Adab, Amanah, and Amalan.

Our educational approach extends beyond the classroom, encapsulated by the practice of the 8-hour rule and our steadfast commitment to the 3-zero concepts—zero poverty, zero unemployment, and zero net carbon emissions. These principles define our university and our community, reflecting our dedication to not only academic excellence but also the betterment of society. Social Business Day 2023 and AIU Public Lecture Series are among the embodiments of our commitment to the cause, while the achievements of our students' 3 Zero Clubs such as Po-Stitch, AIU Alive Shop and Therapy Lab, just to name a few, are truly our pride and what we hope to be role models for other clubs and initiatives on campus.

As AIU graduates, you are more than just individuals; you are ambassadors of our values, principles, and mission. With your unwavering commitment to ethics and accountability, you possess the power to shape the responsible use of technology, including artificial intelligence, in the realm of education. The potential of AI is immense, but it must be harnessed with care and responsibility to ensure it benefits all and maintains the integrity of education.

This convocation should be viewed as a stepping stone, not the culmination of your quest for knowledge. It represents the dawn of your future endeavors, fortified by the wisdom, values, and experiences garnered during your academic journey at AIU.

While we celebrate your individual accomplishments today, let us also acknowledge that profound achievements are seldom the result of solitary efforts.

In closing, I encourage each of you to embrace your role as global citizens, poised to address the challenges of our time and lead with compassion, innovation, and a commitment to a sustainable future. May you embark on your individual journeys with confidence, transforming your knowledge into actions that bring progress, not only for yourselves but for the broader communities you serve.

Congratulations, graduates, on your remarkable achievements. Your journey has just begun, and I have no doubt that you will shape a brighter, more compassionate future for all. As you step into this world, take with you the knowledge, values, and commitment to service that have been instilled in you during your time at Albukhary International University.

Emeritus Professor Dato' Dr. Abd Aziz Tajuddin, FASc, FIPM, FAPM

The MACE

It is a gold sceptre, or mace of North Indian origin, possibly from Rajasthan, made in the first half of the 19th century with carved floral motifs in three sections with a rosewood core. The pommel is inlaid with a large emerald surrounded by rubies and diamonds forming a floral design. Surrounding the flower is a register of carved birds with inlaid ruby eyes, interrupted by floral sprays. The lip of the pommel is decorated with square-cut diamonds.

The mace first made its present-time appearance at AIU Convocation Hall on March 26, 2022 during the inaugural convocation ceremony of the university. Historically recognized as a type of ceremonial device, it was carried by the entourage of the ruler of its time. Today, it is carried by its designated bearer and placed at the centre of the convocation hall during the ceremony as an emblem of lasting prestige and authority which represents the important role that the past will always play in the present time, across centuries, cultures and continents.

Its emblematic uniqueness stands out as it is a significant object from the annex of history that has witnessed much of time and civilisations passing by. Thus, it becomes the perfect symbolism of the university's 5As core values which are universal and timeless, unifying people and communities in its humanity and yet acknowledging the beauty in its diversity.
